

As a social worker with a county health and human services agency, I am pleading that the "No Call" list not be weakened due to the fact that many low income client's are vulnerable to these telemarketers and are easily talked into buying items they don't need. They do this out of loneliness or they don't have the insight to determine whether it's legitimate or not.

Sincerely,
Karen Bluhm